

Bank of Maharashtra gives training to CBI Officials

To make CBI officials conversant with the banking operations and procedures, Bank of Maharashtra took the initiative of giving a 5 day training to CBI officers in Pune at its Staff Training College.

The training programme was inaugurated by Shri J L Negi, General Manager, RBI who is on deputation to CBI in which Shri D R Harnagle, General Manager & Chief Vigilance Officer of Bank of Maharashtra and Shri E J Thomas, DGM, Principal, Bank's Staff Training College were also present.

Speaking on the occasion, Shri J L Negi said that such training programs are necessary in the light of more and more avenues of financial frauds due to computerization and internet banking. Such programmes will help CBI Officers to know the nitty-grittys in the banking operations and procedures particularly under Core Banking Environment.

Shri D R Harnagale, in his address, said that challenges to both bankers and CBI officers are increasing as the incidences of cyber crimes and economic offences are increasing involving bank accounts in various banks affecting innocent account holders. He said that the training programme is designed to cover all relevant aspects so that, after the training, the CBI Officers would become more conversant with the banking operations which in turn will enable them to deal with the cases efficiently.
